Hi Curt – I think they may be doing the test pits tomorrow at red flag locations. I told them they need to carefully document the locations of the test pits to demonstrate for CDPHE that the anomalies were investigated so that they would not have to repeat the work later. Tom said they would replace the red flags in the locations after test pitting. Tom said he is waiting to hear from the surveyor to see if they can survey the locations next week.

I don't anticipate being at the site tomorrow except to check on them once, perhaps mid-day. They are going to watch the weather forecast. If Monday looks like it will be below freezing, they may opt to work Sunday and take Monday off.

Thanks!

Joyce
